Dear Miss Gould,

I return your manuscript to you as I presume that you may need it.

It is pretty hard, indeed, to give you a constructive advice concerning publishers who may be willing to risk the publication of your play.

Publishers have become rather panicky nowadays.

I suppose there might be a chance with some house in your own part of the country rather than in New York. However, the decisive thing for you is to find a good agent. Isn't there such a thing at Toledo or in one of the neighbouring places?

.... I am leaving for California where my parents took a house. I forgot the address, but The Bedford is forwarding my mail.

Best regards and wishes,

Yours ,

K. Lewis
