There isn't any idea, any ethical or political conception, they would not use or misuse for the sinister purposes of their propaganda.

They have misused, one after another,
the ^{revolutionary} ~~socialist~~ and conservative ideas, heroic and pacifist principles.

Yes, indeed, Hitler went on preaching pacifism, while the genuine friends of peace, such as Carl von Ossietzky, ^{for their true consciences} were tortured to death by S.S.-men in the Concentration Camps.

They are using slogans that have a sound sense if used by their ^{the British army} ~~enemies~~. They pretend to fight not the British nor the French people but merely their governments. Senseless distinction.

No separation between people and leaders.
[In France: even former spiritual leaders of ~~communism~~, turning against the Party is for the cause of their country.]

B. Shaw and Sir Mosley = the opposition.

4)

[In England] — a statesman said:
"Any one who urges that the war should be ~~finished~~ ended at any price, is not a real friend of Peace."

Yes, this the voice of Winston Churchill,
First Lord of the Admiralty?
No. The Voice of Mr. Atlee, leader of Labour Party.
The voice of the people....]

Nazi — repeatedly repeating the statements of other people, which he lies in their mouth —
speak about "The other England."
Nobody was persecuted just a thing exists — while WE have good reason for insisting on the existence of an "X" the other Germany."

they forget immediately
the War Aims:

"We will free Europe from the unbearable presence of British tyranny" — : sounds like a satirical joke....

The newest, most amazing trick
and shameful falsification:
Herr von Papen, in Brussels, promising

the United States of Europe.

We know what they actually mean
by talking about the Unity of Europe:
their own hegemony — nothing else.
(divided into spheres of influence...)

Would have to share it, in the beginning,
with Russia, perhaps with Italy (France and England being reduced to third rate powers.) Then: decisive struggle between those making powers.

Then — in the Nazi-idea —
final establishment of Nazi government over Europe. Would ~~be~~ ^{great domination} nations as inferior races — as they are treating minorities at home, in C.S.R., in Poland ... A charming However,

sort of Pan Europe, indeed!
They stick the name which is significant. For it obviously after having emptied it... power:
There is something in the air ...

There is a question in the air:

A few Hitler — What?

Anyway people concerned — why? (over here)

... Peaceful people in France and England have realized, WAR was necessary — partly at because of mistakes ^{committed} of their own government — : as otherwise Europe inevitably would be ^{the} spoil and victim of Nazi aggression; ~~just~~ civilization transformed into something — half jungle, half Prussian barracks-yard ... Didn't want this ^{on stupidity} ~~horrible~~ ^{understood}, but also an anachronism. Yet, accepted it — not as an advantage, but as a hard duty — : to save Europe from Nazi domination; to mark Hitlerism. Good, simple slogan, — for defensive WAR. Not quite satisfying in the long run. — Decide task, of course: to get rid of Hitler. But let's assume he is doomed, already by now. As a matter of fact, he is. And he knows it.

He ^{already} knew it when he addressed
so-called Reichstag which pomp inspired Poland. Self-confidence weakness. Too much about his own Death; meekness, falling away. Hollowing, hollow voice. Madman in despair.

Knew it when he said to Sir [Wicked
Henderson: "Am a painter. ^{like idea... under and writing.}"]

WHY the repeated Peace Offerings?

WHY the Blitzkrieg postponed,

again and again? [Empty space in British papers. I Göring gave explanation: "I am humane." (At Russian Embassy!!)
Langley. "I believe mean it!!"]

At the news of Stalin.

"Stalin has won the war.
Exaggerated, as Allies didn't lose it as yet

Stalin also lost: prestige; confidence.
Communist Ympwalism — not compatible with Lenin. Tradition. Molotov speaking like Ribbentrop. Sickening.

Not comforting to Hitler. — Long jet power increasing Hitler intended in completing his own encirclement.

Anecdote: Stalin — Hitler — Méado.

No ~~in~~ prophecy.

~~No~~ Don't want

He is doomed ... to dire military defeat

Alternative: Chaos — or

Allied Victory.

Endless civil wars, resolutions

— under; or:

permanent Peace, through Allied victory. — Then: Russia Land

again. Would withdraw into Asia ... Stalin could not risk fighting Coalition.

[Described: careful; shrewd;
not crazy — as Hitler ...]

Question: how to organize lasting Peace?

Must there be another Versailles? No.

Essentially different. Important: not changing ~~of~~ frontiers; but dividing them of significance. — "More power"

(military); "milder" (economically.)

Helping ~~base~~ Germany to find back....

~~by forcing him to pay huge reparations; but rather should be helped financially to find his way back to normal peaceful economical life...~~
The main problem, when this war will be over and Hitler will be defeated, won't be the changing of frontiers; but rather: to deprive the frontiers in Europe of their significance. The restoration of C.S.R. and Poland is necessary and important; but not enough. - A new organization of Europe is bound to come - after Hitler's fall. As Mr. Chamberlain has put it:

The world after this war will not be any longer the same world we have known. Written during H. G. Wells, Julian Huxley, Harold Nicolson, only one Shaw tries to be funny
If you could ask ten intelligent persons in Europe:

} "How do you figure the future of Europe should look like" - nint of them would answer you:

"Europe must become something like the United States of America... or something like little Switzerland, where varied people with different are living and working peacefully together... Yes, we need some sort of Unification... Something stronger than a mere League of Nations... What we must achieve is a Federation of the European States..."

And they are right, the people who are thinking and speaking so. The old hope has to be fulfilled; the ancient dream has to become reality - otherwise no European Peace could be permanent...

The economical and political Unification of Europe is, of course, a highly complex ^{task} ~~and utterly involved problem~~: it would be silly to ~~simplify~~ to think one could perform it without serious difficulties. There are many minor and major problems involved, there are many questions and many ways of answering them. I don't want to go into any details. One thing is certain:

*Different languages.
& Ancient traditions.*

The European Federation must be possible as it is necessary.

In cultural matters, of course, the various countries can be, and should be, self-governing; but while there are separate national armies, there can be no peace; and without economic planning on a continental scale, there can be no prosperity.

must become: war for Britain Germany. (13)

For this war ~~is not against the German people but against Hitlerism.~~ not a war to kill and ruin the German nation, but rather It is - as Dorothy Thompson has put it in a very remarkable column -

a "Fight for the Living Body of Germany". - "The cry of Europe to Germany," says Miss Thompson, "is 'Come back to us, be one of us, work with us for an new Europe.'"

Yes, indeed, this war-against-Hitler is bound to become a war for a New Europe. And this New Europe will need the confidence and the help of America.

You want to keep out of this war - and you will succeed - must succeed ... Your deep abhorrence of war, however, does not necessarily mean that you are ^{entirely} ~~interly~~ neutral. I am sure, most of the Americans don't mean strict isolation when they say: neutrality. They mean Peace - and they realize: lasting Peace in this country is only possible, if Europe has it. The same Americans, who don't want to enter the war, are prepared and willing to organize a permanent Peace...

Mrs. Roosevelt put it very frankly and simply:

"Our influence in making a just peace will be greater, if we are at peace, than if we are at war - since we will not have the bitterness of war behind us."

It would be under the optimistic; too own look danger; too underest. of situation. But:

.... We must be very faithful and very patient. While madness and destruction seem to triumph, we must keep in our hearts, faithfully and patiently, this vision of a happier future:

The United States of Europe in peaceful competition with the other great powers of the world, and, above all, ~~the U.S.A.~~ in productive collaboration with the U.S.A. In a more distant future, all these nations, educated in the ways of Peace, at last converge toward one mighty Federal Union. For mankind is undoubtedly destined to advance toward ever larger, broader, more comprehensive groupings - : from jungle hordes to a World Republic... H.G. Wells, in his "Outline of History", only formulates what with off of the ...

Col. H. H. H. - Troth

all highly developed intellects have long understood:

"Our true State - this state that is already beginning, this state to which every man owes his utmost political effort, must be now this nascent Federal World State, to which human necessities point. - Nationalism as a God must follow tribal Gods to limbo. Our true nationality is mankind."
