Dr. L. Quincy Mumford
The Library of Congress
Washington D. C.

Dear Dr. Mumford, -

I am editing a selected edition of my father's letters, three volumes the first of which has already been published while the second is almost ready for publication.

May I in this context take the liberty of asking you a question which figures in the letters without being answered:

As you may remember, Thomas Mann was for a number of years connected with The Library, holding the title of "The Consultant in Germanic Literature". The salary he earned in this capacity is what I need to be sure of. My mother believes it to have been $ 450 a month but it might have been either 400 or even 500. As he mentions his salary without giving any figure, I shall have to enclose the figure in my annotations and should therefore be much obliged if you'd be kind enough to furnish me with the information.

Thanking you in advance for your help and cooperation, I beg to remain, dear Dr. Mumford, yours very sincerely,
