April 4, 1966

Your good letter of March 21th came as a distinct shock to me. My God,- Barbara... How extremely well I remember her all of a sudden and how strange does it now appear that I should have managed somehow to lose sight of her ever since 1938. I liked her tremendously and deeply feel the severity of your loss.

Almost needless to add I should be happy to meet you whenever you come to Europe.

Unfortunately I can't at present think of one single person who was with us from 1936 -1938 and is still alive. There was of course Annemarie, there was my brother Klaus and there were several others - all gone. Unless I am mistaken Carson McCullers also somehow "belonged" - but if so only from time to time and not intimately.

Please never hesitate to approach me again if you feel that I could possibly be of any use or help.

With warmest regards

Yours sincerely,
