Dear Nica, -

it was a lovely surprise to get your handsome Christmas card, and though I failed to say thank you, you gladdened me by telling me all about Tom Lehrer, that dirty Jew-boy. If only Mielein were a more courageous better. As it goes all I get is ten silly francs, whereas she would have received thirty if I had lost which was of course wholly inconceivable.

Christmas was not at all the way it is meant to be. Let's trust that there will be a reunion ten and a half month from now.

Odd that you should have met Antonio Selwart (you got it almost right) who is indeed a very old friend of mine. Also, believe it or not, some forty years ago, he happened to be quite beautiful, even outstandingly so. Now I haven't seen him for ages, and as he never succeeded in becoming a man, he could hardly have become a goodlooking oldster either. More probably, he looks like an extremely withered Bubi, wrinkled and shrunk.

As Mielein seems to have written yesterday, I have no news for you. All the best then and much love,
